Aluwave is a leader in customized and private label LED solutions with three state of the art production facilities and headquarter in Mölndal, Sweden. The customers are mainly luminaire players and wholesalers in Europe and the business is built on strong client relationships, extensive LED competence, fast and reliable deliveries as well as Aluwave often taking the role as a product development partner.

Ledlight Group's key asset, Crystalled, is based on LED technology for high-end applications in the professional market, with particular focus on industrial and marine segments. The Crystalled products are today well-established in several European markets.

For some time, Aluwave has produced all Ledlight Group products and the acquisition is a natural step that will allow us to fully integrate the Crystalled business into Aluwave and further develop it together with the clients, says Per Skånberg, CEO of Aluwave.
